FAR EASTERN DISPUTE DISCUSSED IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

GEN. CHIANG CAUSES SENSATION

LEAVES SHANGHAI ON EVE OF CONFERENCE

RUMOURS THAT 19th ARMY DO NOT DESIRE PEACE.

ELEVENTH HOUR APPOINTMENT

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, To-day.

A sensation was created when a bulletin of the 19th Route Army announced that General Chiang Kuang-nai, the Chief Commander and the principal military delegate at the first formal peace conference, had suddenly left Shanghai, and did not intend to attend the meeting.

Wild speculation was caused in Chinese circles, where it was rumoured that the disagreement of the Chinese diplomatic and military authorities over peace negotiations, and Chiang's refusal to represent China militarily, is interpreted as a sign that the 19th Army is unwilling to talk peace with the Japanese.

The Government, at the eleventh hour, appointed General Tai Chi, the Shanghai and Woosung Garrison Commissioner, as chief delegate rather than risk a postponement to the conference.

CONFERENCE POSTPONED.

(Reuter's Pacific Service.)

Shanghai, To-day.

The first formal Peace Conference, scheduled to take place this morning, has been postponed till to-morrow, apparently because China has not yet designated her chief military delegate.

General Chiang Kwang-nai, who was previously mentioned for the post, suddenly left for the front yesterday morning.

It is expected in local Chinese circles that General Gaston Wang, the Chief-of-Staff of the 19th Army, may be appointed as China's military delegate.

MANCHURIAN PEACE LYTTON COMMISSION VITAL.

National Defence of Japan.

STRENGTH REINFORCED.

(Reuter's Pacific Service.)

Tokyo, Yesterday. Declaring that the situation in Manchuria was still far from easy and requires constant vigilance, the Minister for War, in a speech to the Diet this afternoon, asserted that:

"Peace in Manchuria from the standpoint of national defence is vital for Japan and therefore it is necessary that the present strength of Japanese troops there is maintained and, if possible, reinforced. This point is now being studied by the authorities."

Three Divisions Maintained. Tokyo, Later. Mr. Araki, the Minister for War, reviewed in his speech the development of the military operations both in Manchuria and Shanghai.

He solemnly declared that the magnitude and profundity of the questions involved rendered the situation "even more serious for Japan than the Russo-Japanese War, in certain respects." Close observers interpret his Visiting Hangchow and Nanking.

YESTERDAY'S INTERVIEWS.

(Reuter's Pacific Service.)

Shanghai, To-day. The members of the Lytton Commission will leave Shanghai on Saturday for the Interior, in two sections.

The exact itinerary of each of the two sections is as yet unknown. One will proceed by train to Hangchow, reaching Nanking on Sunday, while the other will proceed up the river by Customs launch for conversations with the Nanking Government on Monday morning.

Yesterday's interviews, held separately with Chinese and Japanese business men, were chiefly concerned with economic conditions and trade in Manchuria.

To-night Mr. Shigemitsu is giving a dinner to the members of the Commission.

emphasis of the necessity for maintaining at least the present strength of troops in Manchuria as foreshadowing the permanent stationing of about three divisions in Manchuria. Instead of only one as prior to September 18, last year.

BRITISH POLICY OUTLINED BY SIR JOHN SIMON

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE LEAGUE SATISFACTORY REPORTS OF JAPANESE WITHDRAWALS

SETTLEMENT OF SINO-JAPANESE DISPUTE NOT SOUGHT BY MILITARY PRESSURE.

London, Yesterday. The Rt. Hon. G. Lansbury initiated the debate on the Far Eastern dispute for the purpose of ascertaining the policy of the Government and said that months had passed with very little progress having been made towards a settlement. He also enquired as to the Government's views concerning the Disarmament Conference.

Japan Blunders. Although he recognised Japan's position and her inability to find a sufficient market, he considered that Japan had blundered in China, and that all countries must be thankful for the stand the United States had taken in conjunction with the League.

League's Attitude. He then asked Sir John Simon what the League proposed to do to eject the Japanese from Manchuria, and also concerning the Japanese communication relating to Manchurian Customs, and requested Sir John to pay attention to the fact that such action by the Japanese Government was contrary to British interests, the League Covenant, and the Washington Treaty.

Sir Austen Chamberlain recognised the powerful influence which Sir John Simon exercised on the Councils of the League in bringing together nations, which from the outset were widely divided, and he deprecated the use of hard words against Japan. Hard words never settled international controversies. He deprecated the Rt. Hon. Lansbury's suggestion that, if trouble broke out in the Settlement, British nationals should be evacuated owing to the serious consequences. Such a step, which would destroy the whole of our trade with China and deprive us of any influence in the Councils of Asiatic Powers, would stamp us as people who forgot traditions and were neither willing to help the needy nor to protect our own people when in danger.

Desire for China's Prosperity. He hoped that nothing would be done to prevent the full restoration of the old Anglo-Japanese friendship. As regards China we had no territorial ambitions there or elsewhere, only desiring to see China strong and prosperous.

Japanese Withdrawals. Sir John Simon announced that the Japanese Ambassador had informed him that orders had been given for the withdrawal of the greater part of the Japanese warships and some land forces from Shanghai and added that preliminary peace discussions had been reported to have closed satisfactorily and a formal conference was to be held on March 23. (Cheers.)

Sir John enumerated the Japanese naval forces in Chinese waters and said that Japan was reducing her naval forces to something not much greater than at normal times.

Satisfactory News. He said that he was very far from saying that the news was encouraging, but it was the same thing as having secured the final arrangements, which would be necessary before this part of the Far Eastern trouble could be terminated as far as the definite cessation of hostilities was concerned.

He agreed that it was not only a thing to be still considered, but it was a definite and satisfactory piece of news.

Holding the Scales Fairly. Sir John declared, "we have done our utmost, with the invaluable assistance of our diplomatic, consular, naval, and military representatives on the spot, to hold the scales fairly and to carry out the League principles, and we have earnestly tried and co-operated with the other Powers in Shanghai when no advantage would have been gained by our taking up a special position of priority of action."

United States Co-operating. He further said that the House of Commons was entitled to feel satisfaction that, after what seemed unhappily a long wait, we have at last reached a point when we are able to say that the United States are joining with ourselves and the other great Powers interested in the Far East in endeavouring to promote the great purposes common to the League Covenant and the Pact of Paris.

Danger of Hostile. He added that he did not wish, however, to speak too hopefully, for one learned from Rudyard Kipling of the dangers lying in wait for anybody who tried to hustle in the East, but the latest news was quite definitely encouraging.

The Customs Question. Referring to the question of the preservation of the Chinese Customs Administration in Manchuria, Sir John said that the arrangements made for the transmission of Customs Duties to a paid foreign loan service could equally, as far as he knew, be made in Manchuria.

As far as he knew nobody attempted to dispossess the present authorities there and certainly we should take, as other countries would, the gravest and most serious notice of any suggestion that the Customs service in China was going to be so dealt with, so as to interfere prejudicially with the undoubted rights that various foreign interests had over the Customs with payment by loans.

The New State in Manchuria. Sir John, in referring to the suggestion that the new State of Manchuria was established by Japan, said that no one was entitled to say that as an accepted fact, except on the principle that one was entitled to pass judgment without enquiry and in the face of a denial.

He pointed out that the Japanese Government had declared that it was no more likely to recognise the new administration than the other countries, and does not admit that it is the administration which she had set up. He (Sir John) would not say anything one way or the other, as it would not do to accept as gospel any information which was prejudicial to one side, and refuse to wait for enquiry. They must await the report of the League Commission.

The new administration was not one which he should think any country was likely prematurely to recognise, for nobody recognised any Government which is established under such circumstances without the fullest enquiry of the circumstances, and without being satisfied that it was a responsible Government which could really administer the territory and enter into relations with Foreign Powers, and was a genuine expression of the decision of the inhabitants.

League's Activities. In summing up the achievements of the League Sir John claimed that proceedings in Geneva during the past few months had showed that members had loyally and effectively supported the principle of the League, and the duty of every Foreign Secretary to conduct matters so as not to involve his country in a dispute.

As a heavy mist hung over Dartmoor to-day the convicts' escort was greatly strengthened. Before the lorries came new convicts could be heard singing lustily such songs as "Pack Up Your Troubles" and "Tipperary."

Witnesses for Defence Maltreated. GUARDS DOUBLED. Defending Counsel's Accusation. (Reuter's Special Service.)

London, Yesterday. Sensational questions concerning yesterday's incidents at Dartmoor were asked when warders gave evidence on the fourth day's hearing of the Dartmoor charges to-day.

Mr. James, the defending counsel, asked a warder whether he knew if two men, who will be called for the defence, were dragged to the cells yesterday with heads bleeding. Mr. James suggested that according to his instruction some defence witnesses had been interfered with.

CAPTAIN BAHNSON ELECTED

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

SURPRISING DEFEATS OF MR. HUGHES AND MR. CARNEY.

JAPANESE HEAD THE POLL

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, To-day.

For the first time in the Municipal history of Shanghai a representative of a continental country other than Germany was elected to a seat in the Municipal Council in the person of Captain Bahnsen, Manager of the Great Northern Telegraphs. This is the first time since 1914 that a European, other than of British nationality, has secured a place.

Prior, and even during the early days, to the Great War the Germany community was represented by Mr. Figge, Manager of the German Bank, until the latter resigned his seat.

This year's elections resulted in a dual upset inasmuch as Mr. Hughes (British), Mr. Carney (American), both retiring councillors, were unexpectedly defeated.

Mr. Fukushima, one of the two Japanese candidates who headed the poll, expressed gratification that he still retained the confidence of the Electorate and voiced his regret at the defeat of Mr. Carney as it was understood that Japanese voters intended balloting in favour of two American candidates, but only Mr. Raven was returned, which was a particular pity because at this time all nations must maintain a solid front and face the present crisis.

It is the informed opinion that the election of Capt. Bahnsen was due to a strong desire to make the Council more representative of all communities.

JAPAN'S FOREIGN POLICY.

Political Interests in Manchuria.

ECONOMIC IN CHINA.

(Reuter's Pacific Service.)

Tokyo, Yesterday. Mr. Yoshizawa, addressing the Diet on Japan's foreign policy this afternoon, declared that it was while the Japanese marines were moving in to their positions, in accordance with the general plan for the defence of the International Settlement at Shanghai, that they were fired on by the Chinese.

He denied that it was the Japanese marines who started the trouble. Referring to Manchuria he said that the efforts of local leaders to maintain peace after the fall of the Manchurian Government gradually assumed the nature of a movement for autonomy, and that a declaration of Independence was later made.

He said he was certain it would be in the best interests of the new State if it respected the existing treaties and the rights and interests of foreigners and to adhere faithfully to the principle of the Open Door.

He said that Japan's interests in Manchuria were mainly political, whereas in China they were mainly economic, and that it would be better if the AMERICANS LOSE ONE OF THEIR SEATS.

Shanghai Municipal Elections.

FIVE BRITONS RETURNED.

(Reuter's Pacific Service.)

Shanghai, Yesterday. The chief surprise in the Shanghai Municipal Elections to-day was that the Americans lost one of their two seats, Mr. Carney not being returned.

The polling took place yesterday and to-day when the following were elected:—

	Votes.
Mr. Fukushima (Japanese)	1218
Mr. Okamoto (Japanese)	1210
Mr. H. E. Arnold (British)	1182
Mr. A. R. Ball (British)	888
Mr. N. Leslie (British)	895
Mr. Raven (American)	892
Mr. F. W. Massey (British)	846
Capt. J. J. Bahnsen (Danish)	843
Mr. H. D. F. Beith (British)	840

The unselected candidates were: Mr. Carney (784), Mr. A. J. Hughes (688), Mr. A. de C. Sowerby (418), Mr. A. M. Cannon (390), Mr. G. E. Mardon (384) and Mr. H. M. Cumine (244).

National Government abandoned its anti-Japanese policy and directed its energies towards achieving internal unity and peace. There would be no room to doubt the possibility of restoring complete friendship and accord between the two countries.

ROUND HONG KONG'S CINEMA THEATRES

MAIL REVIEWERS.

"THE SEA BAT."

Good acting, coupled with outstanding photographic achievements and a South Sea setting, make Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's film "The Sea Bat," now showing at the Star Theatre, worth while seeing. Charles Bickford and Raquel Torres head the cast, others of prominence being Nils Asther (his first talkie), John Miljan and George F. Marion.

Natives diving for sponges during the day, Voodoo dancing at night, and exciting battles with the Giant Ray (a large sea monster) form interesting features of the film.

Bickford is seen in the role of an escaped prisoner who, disguised as a clergyman, lands in the island and falls in love with Miss Torres.

OFFICIAL SOURCES.

"HUCKLEBERRY FINN."

Of twenty speaking parts in the motion picture, "Huckleberry Finn," which will be shown at the King's Theatre to-morrow, four are carried by well-known juvenile players, Jackie Coogan, Mitz Green, Junior Durkin and Jackie Searl, all of them continuing the roles in which they won favour in "Tom Sawyer."

Several adult players seen in "Tom Sawyer" again play the same characters in "Huckleberry Finn," the second of the Mark Twain classics to come to the screen. Clara Blandick will again hold away over the Sawyer boys, as Aunt Polly. Jane Darwell continues as the efficient Widow Douglas. Huck Finn's guardian angel.

Two veteran actresses, Cecil Weston and Lillian Harmer were signed for the roles of Mrs. Thatcher, and a companion of Widow Douglas. Miss Weston brings an experience of thirty years on the stage and screen to her difficult character role. Miss Harmer was a prominent stage figure for seventeen years before she entered pictures.

Eugene Pallette, Oscar Apfel, Warner Richmond, Guy Oliver, Frank McGlynn, Aileen Manning and Clarence Muse have important parts.

"Huckleberry Finn" was directed by Norman Taurog, maker of the recent younger hit, "Skippy," and of "Forbidden Adventure," the Sinclair Lewis story of young folk and their mothers. The picture was filmed at the Paramount studio in Hollywood and on location. An entire country town, of the 1850 vintage, was re-created near Hollywood as a setting for the story.

Nearly two hundred children, of assorted ages, have parts in the picture. The juvenile cast of "Huckleberry Finn" is much larger than that of either "Tom Sawyer" or "Skippy."

FAIRBANKS' TRAVEL FILM.

Those big crowds who attended the Central Theatre within the last three days were greatly thrilled and amused when they saw Douglas Fairbanks' "Around the World in 80 Minutes" showing on the screen.

With three companions, Doug actually travelled out to strange lands in search of new thrills, and that he found them is amply verified by the record of his camera. To see the picture is actually to accompany Doug and share the fascinating adventures he found. Through China, Japan, India, Siam, Indo-

China and the Philippines went Doug and his confederates in adventure, shooting wild beasts, meeting kings, queens and celebrities, visiting sacred and historic spots, mingling with the surging tides of oriental humanity—looking always for the unusual, the extraordinary, and always finding it.

Before the magic of Doug's sense of humour, thrills give way to laughs on the least provocation. "Around the World" could well be called a comedy, one of the best of this or any other year.

The fascinating features of this film are too numerous to enumerate. Always after the first gasp of amazement, there is a succeeding flood of laughter at Doug's witty quips. Famous personages speak from the screen and there is a running flow of explanation from Doug, most of it being in a humorous vein.

To miss this film is to miss one of the finest and most sensational entertainments the screen has yet offered. It is a mixture of magic and reality which will fascinate the grown-ups and bring delight to the children as well.

BRIAN AHERNE.

Brian Aherne looks different in his first talkie, "The W. Plan," which will be shown at the Queen's Theatre to-morrow. He plays the part of a British officer masquerading as a German officer, which necessitates a monocle, one of those deolette haircuts, and a bumpitious little moustache. It's the kind of moustache that puts you in your place and suggests that your spelling is bad and your nose too red, and your banking account overdrawn. You know the kind! And Victor Saville, who nursed it into being, feels all the responsibility of a conscientious gardener.

During the production of this picture, Brian was caught smoking a cigarette. Victor snatched it from his mouth, with the greatest indignation. "Hi," shouted Victor, "you'll burn my moustache!" People from Birmingham are funny that way.

NATALIE MOORHEAD.

Natalie Moorhead, one of the most notable portrayers of man-charger roles on the talking screen, avows that vamping comedians is twice as difficult as vamping the unwary heroes of straight drama.

"I laugh up my sleeve," she declared, "while putting dramatic characters under my, er... spell. That's an essential part of the characterisation."

"But when I loosed this particular form of theatrical artistry on Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in 'Hook, Line and Sinkers,' I found it difficult to keep from laughing right out loud. On two occasions their reactions were too much for me and I really had to laugh!"

The production, a Radio Pictures "special" comes to the Queen's Theatre on Sunday next.

"TILLY OF BLOOMSBURY."

Phyllis Konstam had a remarkable tribute paid to her after the shooting of a dramatic scene in "Tilly of Bloomsbury," the Sterling Film Co., Ltd., talkie production which is showing to-day by request at the King's Theatre for one day only.

Jack Raymond, who directed the picture, is beloved amongst artists, for his imperturbability cloaks a most kindly and tolerant understanding of human nature, and his gentle persuasiveness has the effect of getting the last ounce out of his

SUN MOVING AWAY FROM EARTH.

Life Extinct in One Trillion Years.

The sun is shrinking at such a rate and moving away from the earth at a speed of three feet a century, that Colonel George Cros, a well-known French astronomer, predicts that in one trillion years from now life will have disappeared from the earth and a great glacier will form over its surface.

A trillion years represents 500 times the age of the earth and is 3,000,000 years longer than the duration of humanity to the present. Colonel Cros estimates the earth to be not less than 1,400 million years old and not more than 3,400 million years and has established an estimate of 2,000,000,000 years.

The sun, he contends, is 8,000,000,000 years old and has left but a scant 15,000,000,000 years, in spite of the fact that the sun loses 250,000 tons of its weight a minute in radiation, which makes the daily loss in weight some 350,000,000 tons and the annual shrinkage about 127,750,000,000 tons a year.

In addition to losing its radiating power as it grows smaller, the sun is actually drawing away from the earth at the rate of one foot every 35 years. In one trillion years the sun will be one-sixth of its present distance—farther away from the earth.

That alone will be responsible for a drop in the mean temperature here on earth of 15 degrees centigrade. The reduction in weight and radiation powers of the sun will reduce the temperature on earth another 15 degrees, a total of 30 degrees centigrade or 54 degrees Fahrenheit.

Thus Summers will become Winters and the present Winters will become glacial. New York would have an average Summer temperature of 20 degrees above zero Fahrenheit, and an average Winter temperature of 23 degrees below zero. Even California would have top heat of 24 degrees in Summer and average Winters of one or two degrees above zero. The Dakotas would see average Winter temperatures of 46 degrees below zero. In the Siberian steppes life would become impossible and at Vladivostok the average temperature would never rise above zero, falling in mid-Winter to 50 below zero.

There is always some hope of relief from another source, however, for Colonel Cros believes it is possible that some of the present nebulous groups may take the form of a sun by flattening at the ends in spinning.

artists, whether it be a comedy or a dramatic sequence.

But even his equanimity was severely shaken during a scene in "Tilly of Bloomsbury," Phyllis Konstam, who plays the part of Tilly, has invited her fiancé's rich family to her modest home where attempts to put her middle-class family into as good a light as possible go all wrong, and culminate in a dramatic scene during which she denounces her future mother-in-law for her snobbishness and patronage.

The sincere manner with which Phyllis Konstam played this scene, the fervour of her denunciation, and championing of her own poor family reached such a pitch of dramatic intensity that Jack Raymond was in constant fear that Phyllis Konstam would collapse under the emotional strain.

When the scene was eventually taken, Jack Raymond enthusiastically complimented her, and even the hard-boiled studio staff joined in the outburst of spontaneous applause.

QUININE IS NOT ENOUGH

Though quinine is essential in the treatment of Malaria, Genasprin is of wonderful benefit in relieving the pains in your muscles and joints. Genasprin, the absolutely pure and therefore safe brand of aspirin, soothes the nerves, induces deep restful sleep and so helps to reduce the temperature. Genasprin and quinine may be taken with perfect safety at the same time.

Temperature Gone in 2 Hours. A frequent victim of Malaria writes:—"In cases of Malaria I take 10 grains of Genasprin (2 tablets) followed 10 minutes later by 10 grains of quinine. I then soon begin to perspire—having, of course, gone to bed under plenty of blankets—and in a couple of hours my temperature has gone and there is no need to continue the Genasprin. Plain quinine by itself is not effective and only results in a severe headache. The Genasprin not only excites a healthy perspiration, but also banishes the ill-effects of quinine—headache, dizziness, and weakness."

HEADLEY'S DOUBLE
CENTURY.Flogs the English
Bowling.

Kingston (Jamaica), Feb. 20.
All-Jamaica scored 480 for five wickets in the first day's play in the first of their three unofficial Test matches against Lord Tennyson's touring team. Jamaica owe their position to the fine sixth-wicket partnership between Headley and Passallague, who, coming together shortly before tea, were together when stumps were drawn, having scored almost four hundred runs between them.

A bad start was made when Bockford was caught off Geary without scoring. The game, however, underwent a complete change when Headley came in, and he and Barrow put the century up. Nunes, Rae, and Da Costa were cheaply dismissed, but at tea the score was 276 for five wickets, and on resuming Headley (157) and Passallague (34) carried their totals to 246 and 157 respectively. The tired English bowlers were flogged all over the field, the batsmen showing a special liking for Stevens' deliveries. Headley has hit 28 fours and Passallague 21 fours and three sixes.

The Englishmen are already well acquainted with Headley, as he scored three centuries and one double century in the Test matches against England in 1929-30.

GILLIGAN ON TEST
ELEVENS.Optimistic Regarding England.

Mr. A. E. R. Gilligan at the Epsom Brotherhood annual sports service said it was ridiculous of people to say that the Australians could not be beaten in Test matches. The Australians were a very fine side, but England were just as good, and he thought they were the better team taken all round. Bradman was only one player, but there were ten others, and matches were generally won by team work.

Referring to the length of Test matches, he spoke of the enormous strain on players in eight-day matches in Australia, and expressed himself in favour of five-day matches in Australia and four-day matches in England.

ST. ANDREW'S LADIES
NARROW WIN.Diocesan Girls' School Defeated.

POOR C.B.A. TURN-OUT.

Fielding only eight players and without a goalkeeper, the St. Andrew's Club Ladies just managed to beat the Diocesan Girls' School eleven by the odd goal in five in a friendly hockey match yesterday afternoon. The school girls fought very pluckily, and, on the whole, gave a promising display.

The school netted first through J. Wong, P. Gittins equalising for the Saints, who gained a lead through M. Woolley before the interval. In the second half M. Woolley put the visitors further ahead, but the school decreased the deficit through C. Perpetuo. Toward the end the girls strove hard for the equaliser but the Saints defence held out.

Result:—
St. Andrew's Ladies 3
Diocesan Girls' School 2
C.B.A. Ladies' Lose.

On the C.B.A. ground at King's Park, the C.B.A. Ladies lost to the German Club by four goals to one in a scrappy match. The winners fielded only eight, whilst the ladies had only seven. D. Hunt scoring the solitary point.

ELEVEN.To Defend Title at Los Angeles.

Calcutta, Mar. 13.

It is officially stated that L. Cpl. Naik Dhyani Chand, India's hockey wizard, will lead the Indian team to defend the world's hockey title at Los Angeles.

The following have been selected to make the trip:—R. J. Allen (Bengal), Hind (Punjab), Lal Shah (Punjab), Jaffer (Punjab) E. Pinniger (Punjab), Gurmit Singh (Punjab), Dhyani Chand (Indian Army), L. C. Hammond (United Provinces), Masood (Punjab), Aslam (Punjab), C. Tapsell (Bengal), R. Carr (Bihar), W. Sullivan (Bombay) and B. Rewin (Bombay). The team is not India's strongest but it should be able to account for U.S.A. and France, who are the only other competitors.

What a financial godsend the English Cup can be. Take the case of Southport.

Thanks to their sturdy resistance against more famous teams, they played in all before 116,966 spectators, and shared in receipts amounting to the tidy little sum of £7,344.

In their two games with Barnsley the attendances totalled 27,450 and the receipts were £1,575; while against Newcastle the three gates totalled 89,616 and the receipts amounted to £5,769.

In their first tussle with Newcastle there were 50,155 spectators and the receipts £3,188.

Jean Borotra's preference for grass lawn tennis courts comes to lovers of Wimbledon as a welcome reply to America's drastic resolution in favour of hard courts.

Borotra has a great personal affection for our world-famous centre court, the scene of so many of his triumphs, and glorious failures. Company Meeting.

HONG KONG ELECTRIC CO., LTD.

FORTY-THIRD ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING TO-DAY

The forty-third ordinary yearly meeting of shareholders was held at the Company's Offices in the P. & O. Building this morning. The Hon. C. G. S. Mackie (Chairman of Directors) presided, and was supported by Sir Robert Ho Tung, Kt., the Hon. Sir Shou-sun Chow, Kt., Mr. J. P. Warren, the Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson (Directors), and Mr. J. Douglas Butcher (Manager). Shareholders were represented by Messrs. W. S. Bailey, Chiu Ho-ping, Lau Shiu-chuen, V. Sorby, F. L. Brown, the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Fung Kong-ung, Leung Fatin, To Cho-hing, Wong Ping-sun, L. E. Ozorio, Leung Yan-po, O. F. Ribeiro, Leung Shiu-lau, H. J. M. de Figueiredo, L. J. Davies, B. Wong Tape, Vong Chio, S. H. Ross, Ip Fook, Paul Lauder, Frank Austin (Attorney for Mr. A. J. David), and Chun Wing-keu.

The Manager having read the notice convening the meeting, the Chairman said:—

Gentlemen.—The Report and Statement of Accounts for the year ended December 31, 1931, have been in your hands for the prescribed period and with your permission I will take them as read.

The Net Profit after providing for Depreciation is $1,698,059.29. With the sum of $142,335.82 brought forward from last account we have $1,840,395.11 for appropriation and with this we propose:—

To pay a dividend of $2.50 per share absorbing $1,125,000.00

To appropriate a sum to write off obsolete plant 170,050.00

To place to reserve 400,000.00

To carry forward to next account 136,336.11

The Profit on Working exceeded that for 1930 by $101,839 and in view of the increased cost of fuel, which forms a large percentage of the Works Costs of the unit, this result may, I think, be looked upon as satisfactory.

A new item which appears in the Working Account is the Five Yearly Installation Testing which the Company have to carry out in accordance with Government requirements and which has meant the formation of an entirely new sub-department attached to the Meter Staff. This department commenced its activities on January 1, 1931.

We have set aside an additional $99,202, making a total of $626,367 for Depreciation, which leaves us with a Net Profit $33,609 in excess of that for the previous year.

In viewing the results for last year it should be borne in mind that we have had to meet largely increased costs of miscellaneous supplies as well as on machinery and accessories. It should also be remembered that we offer the Public a supply at very low rates which can be equaled in but few cities throughout the world. The improved results of the period under review have been possible owing to the steady increase in the output which has shown a further rise during the year of some 9.8 per cent, the total number of units sold having risen to over 37½ millions. The number of consumers have also increased in a gratifying manner and is now almost at the 38,000 stage, an increase of over 3,000 during the year, or the largest increase during the last ten years.

Government rates are considerably heavier owing to increased assessments, a likelihood fore-shadowed last year.

It will be observed that a note has been inserted in the Assets side of the Balance Sheet to the effect that we are committed to further payments under Contract amounting to $22,014. This figure represents the balance of instalments on the new turbine, boilers, and steam range, comprising our new plant, and should, I feel, appear in the Balance Sheet.

A new item also appears under the heading of Goods in Transit, $89,598, which represents turbine plant in transit at the date of the balance sheet for which our London Representative had paid and drawn on us.

You will notice under the heading Motor Cars and Lorries, which appeared in last account at $2,761.81, there has been an expenditure during the year of $25,761.82. This is due to the purchase of a fleet of lighter type commercial vehicles which have already shown a considerable economy in running and are tending to reduce our transport costs.

With regard to Sundry Debtors the increase of $173,419 is mainly on account of remittances to London at favourable rates to meet further payments for our extensions.

Cash at Hand and in Current Account has decreased by $308,482, heavy payments on account of new plant having been made.

There are, I think, no further points in the accounts which call for special remark other than the writing off of some of the old plant to which I will refer later.

The new plant of which I spoke last year has now arrived and is in process of erection at the moment. It is hoped to have it in operation during this Spring. We have been fortunate in being able to pay for this additional machinery at higher rates of exchange than was anticipated.

In accordance with the progressive policy of the Company whereby it has been decided to completely modernise the Power Station and replace the low pressure with high pressure steam plant with its attendant greater economy, it will be necessary to convert the British Thomson-Houston set No. 6 to the higher pressure as soon as possible and to provide a further high pressure boiler in the near future.

With this object in view your Directors deem it advisable to completely write off two of the obsolete turbines although they will be retained as a standby supply. From the point of view of maximum efficiency these sets are now out of date but I would mention that they have been in continuous use for a considerable number of years and have in their time done yeoman service.

I think I may safely say that the results of the past year have fully realised our expectations, the most satisfactory feature in my opinion being the considerable increase in output mainly due to the larger number of consumers. I would also add that care has been taken to effect every possible economy without in any way impairing efficiency.

It is always my pleasure on these occasions to express our appreciation of all that the Staff have done to achieve the results which we place before you and with this I am sure the Shareholders would like to associate themselves.

I now propose that the Report and Statement of Accounts for the year ended December 31, 1931, be adopted, and when this has been seconded I shall be pleased to answer any questions you may desire to ask.

The Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, in seconding the proposal, said:—

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen, I have listened with great interest to the speech from the Chair and I would like to offer my congratulations to the Directors, Agents and Staff on the excellent results of last year's working. In view of the low level of Exchange and the consequent advance in the cost of coal, machinery and stores etc. the increase in the net profit is highly satisfactory.

As you stated, Sir, I think the higher output and the large increase in the number of consumers are features which must appeal to Shareholders as an indication of the steady progress of our undertaking.

The proposal of the Board to write off obsolete plant appeals to me as a wise and proper course and will, I feel sure, meet with the approval of all present. It has always been the policy of this Company to depreciate on an adequate scale and I am pleased to see that this principle has again been followed in the present accounts.

It must be a matter of great satisfaction to the Directors to be able to again propose a dividend of $2.50 per share and at the same time place a considerable amount to our healthy reserve account.

Whilst the report and accounts before us are thoroughly satisfactory from Shareholders' point of view, I would point out that Consumers receive current at a rate which bears comparison with any place in the world.

I personally am very pleased to see that the Board are maintaining the Generating Station at a high state of efficiency. I hold the view that modern machinery incorporating all the latest improvements is essential for economical production.

I now have much pleasure in formally seconding the adoption of the report and accounts for 1931, as presented.

No questions being asked the Resolution was put to the meeting and the adoption of the Report and Statement of Accounts was carried unanimously.

Mr. T. E. Pearce and the Hon. Mr. C. G. S. Mackie, retiring Directors, were re-elected by a resolution proposed by Mr. W. S. Bailey and seconded by Mr. Frank Austin.

Messrs. Linstead and Davis were re-elected Auditors for the ensuing year at a remuneration of $2,500 by a resolution proposed by Mr. Fung Kong-ung and seconded by Mr. Wong Ping-sun.

The Chairman: That is all the business, gentlemen, I thank you for your attendance. Dividend warrants are now ready.

CHINA ENTERTAINMENT.

Sir Shou-sun Chow presided at the second ordinary general meeting of shareholders of the above Company, which was held in the King's Theatre Building at noon to-day, and reported a very satisfactory state of affairs.

The net earnings of the King's Theatre for its nine months' working were $109,327.16 while rents of offices and shops in the theatre buildings brought in $53,635.71. A dividend of 60 cents per share was declared.

Chairman's Speech.

Addressing the meeting, the Chairman said:—

The report of the Directors together with the Balance Sheet at December 31, 1931, and the Auditor's report, having been in your hands for some time, I will, with your permission follow the local custom and take them as read.

The King's Theatre Building was ready for occupation at the end of March last, and the Theatre was opened on the 31st of the same month. Pictures from the Paramount Mount Film Co., which is one of the largest film producing companies in the world, were shown in this Theatre. A month later we entered into a contract with the Fox Film Corporation for the exhibition of their best selections of pictures. As you doubtless know, both the Paramount Film Co., and the Fox Film Corporation are the premier film producing companies in the U.S.A. and their films are known in every part of the world. The popularity of their pictures can be evidenced by the large audiences and box-office returns.

British Pictures.

Your Directors soon realised that the people in this British Colony would much appreciate British pictures; consequently, they booked through the British Film Distribution Co., a selection of British productions, representing well known English stage plays, and enacted by popular stage stars. I may mention that this Theatre is one of the first theatres in China to introduce first class British talks.

This year, in addition to the above mentioned three well known Film Companies, we have also secured a selection of "United Artists" pictures, including their principal film "Palmy Days". Our reason for showing films other than those from the three companies already mentioned, is that the public may like an occasional change of pictures, as we are always anxious to satisfy the varied tastes of our large patrons.

While giving special attention to the selection of good pictures for exhibition, we have not neglected to cater to the comfort of our patrons. Indeed, it is the first aim of the management of this theatre to offer the best service and comfort to its patrons, and would value their co-operation and

M. HAARDT TO BE BURIED IN PARIS.

No Ceremony in Hong Kong.

EXPEDITION'S LOSS.

In accordance with the wishes expressed by the family of the late Monsieur George Marie Haardt, leader of the Central Asian Expedition, the burial will be performed in Paris, no ceremonies taking place here.

Accompanied by the three members of the expedition at present in Hong Kong, the coffin will be embarked on the French liner sailing from this port on March 29.

The other members of the party which have already arrived in Indo-China, will come on board at Saigon in order to escort the body of their leader to France.

Residents of the Colony who desire to express their sympathy to Monsieur George Marie Haardt's family, and to his friends, are asked to write their names down at the French Consul General's Office in the book opened for this purpose.

Among the many cables of condolence received from leading personalities the world over, the President of the Council, and Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs has sent the deep sympathy of the French Government "which associates wholeheartedly with the expedition in its grief at the loss of their Chief."

Cleavage of the Atom appears nearer as the result of a new 20,000,000-volt generator.

advice, and no pains will be spared to give them every satisfaction.

The Cooling Plant.

I am pleased to state that the King's Theatre is the first theatre in South China to install a Cooling Plant. This cooling system not only cools and purifies the air, but at the same time it reduces the humidity. It is a boon to Patrons during the hot weather, and its special feature is that the air, being evenly distributed does not cause drafts.

Turning now to the accounts, you will see from the Profit and Loss Account that the net earnings of the Theatre for its nine months' working is $109,327.16 and our net receipts of offices and shops for the year is $53,635.71; and that after deduction of interests and Directors and Auditor's Fees, etc., our net profit for the year is $95,974.10. We have, however, to write off the debit balance of $30,777 carried forward from 1930, thus leaving available for distribution $65,197.10.

Your Directors recommend paying a dividend of 60 cents per share for the year, and writing off $3,967.20 for Preliminary Expenses, leaving a balance of $1,315.10 to be carried forward to next year's account.

I now propose that the Report of the Directors and the Statement of Accounts as presented be adopted. When this has been seconded I will endeavour to answer, to the best of my ability, any questions which shareholders may wish to ask.

Seconded by Dr. E. W. J. Sun and carried unanimously.

Messrs. Percy Smith, Seth and Fleming were re-elected Auditors at a remuneration of $600 on the proposal of Mr. Chow Tung-sang, seconded by Mr. Mok Hing-seung.

Extraordinary Meeting.

An extraordinary meeting was held immediately afterward for the purpose of considering the following Resolution:—

"That there shall be added to Article 71 of the Articles of Association of the Company the words:—

"but the Chairman shall receive double remuneration."

It was proposed by Mr. P. M. Hodgson and seconded by Mr. Wong Kwong-tin and carried nem. con.

Attendance.

Those present at both meetings were the Hon. Dr. S. J. W. Te'o (Vice-Chairman), Messrs. Chang Fat and Liang Chi-hao (Managing Directors), Li Jow-sun, Sum Pak-ming, George Sun, Yau Kwai-lup, Chang Kwai-lin, Wong Kwong-tin, Choi Wai-hung, and Chang Kwai-on (Directors), and Dr. E. W. J. Sun and Messrs. P. M. Hodgson, Chow Tung-sang, Sun Jue-yow, Chang Cheong, Mok Hing-seung, and Hung So-yin (Shareholders).

A confirmatory meeting will be held on April 15.

Qualified Failure.

The Far Eastern conflict is by far the severest test that the League of Nations has ever undergone and the League has failed under the test, in spite of the reports of formal peace parleys now being attended in Shanghai. No successful mediation by the League, even when peace is officially declared, can mitigate that failure. Is the League itself then a failure? It is a question which has been on the lips of thousands since last September, and the answer is no—but it is a qualified no.

Too much has been expected of the League. Could it curb Alexander, a Caesar, or a Napoleon, could it avert the rise of Hellenic civilisation, prevent Rome from replacing Athens, save Carthage from downfall, or thwart the rise of the British Empire? Can articles, paragraphs, clauses, and annexes resist the tremendous tidal movements of human history? There are disputes where it could intervene decisively, there are others where it could restrain by firm or gentle pressure, and there are others in which it could beneficently mediate. Perhaps there are none in which it could do nothing at all. So that its power is very great indeed. But it has its limitations and unless they are recognised the League is doomed. If they are recognised in time, however, the power of the League may grow and its limits may expand.

One unfortunate feature in the activities of the League is its aptitude to avoid realities by assuming that what it has failed to do will, some day, be accomplished by Providence.

Japan, though she may make her peace with China, will be broken as a reed. She is too entangled in an enterprise that will accumulate disaster upon disaster for herself. She will have war after war abroad, and revolution at home—and all because of her recent misbehaviour. In other words she has escaped sentences from the League, but she cannot avoid being punished.

by the workings of historical cause and effect, which, by some strange twist in the universal law, operate wholly in accordance with the idealism that happens to have been fashionable in Western Europe and America since the World War.

Disaster may befall Japan—what expanding imperialism has not gone through disasters at home and abroad? France was defeated in India and America and went through one of the greatest revolutions ever known, to emerge with a strength as great as that of all Europe combined. But what the fate of Japan will be, whether defeat and total ruin, dominion and prosperity, Rome or Carthage, no one can tell—nor does it matter; it is the present reality that matters, if mankind is not to lose what little power it has over that reality. Japan should have been treated with a firm hand by the League in her early meanderings through Chinese territory. Stories of imperilled nationals should not have been allowed such serious latitude and a forceful check placed on all her movements. Instead of which the League dallied in the peaceful surroundings in Geneva.

The power of the League—when not over-stained—is very great, even now and despite its inglorious failure. Its potential power is even greater. It can and should be an instrument of Western civilisation. It is a means of achieving a world-order, or at least a European order, but it cannot be the preserver of a world-order that does not exist.

French Proposal.

Several Frenchmen are advancing the suggestion that the United States Government be called upon to pay for the period of the war in which it took no active part—from April, 1917 when the United States declared war until July 1918 when the United States soldiers took part in a big engagement.

This remarkable suggestion is put forward on the grounds that during those fifteen months France held the line and there-fore the United States Government ought to be prepared to pay for services rendered.

Figures carefully prepared by a well known French accountant, General Alombert, estimate that the sum due to France "for services rendered" is something like nine billion dollars. This figure is reached by adding the cost of the war life insurance policies of 200,000 Americans to the cost of dealing with some 800,000 wounded, and to this is added a sum representing interest at the rate of two per cent for thirteen years.

The views of the United States on this ludicrous proposal should prove interesting, even more interesting than the views expressed at Home when it became known that the British Government had had to pay rent for the trenches occupied by its troops during the war!

FAR EASTERN DISPUTE.

country in a situation which would only aggravate matters had been carried out, and differences between greater and smaller States had been reconciled, and lastly the support of the United States had been secured.

The Best Guarantee.
Sir John Simon declared that there was a great deal still to be done, but what had been done showed that the League was the best guarantee for the peace of the world.

Patience and time before a conciliation could be effected would be necessary, but this was a case where the League was most likely to be useful as a mediating force; constant reference to stick what you are supposed to have in the pocket was not the best way to secure compliance with advice or to exert influence as a great world organisation.

It was a mistake to assume that the League had necessarily gained effective strength in such a case by constant reference to weapon sanctions.

The League really exercised and was founded on a position as an authorised exponent and interpreter of world opinion, which was one of the most terrific forces in nature.

League Functions Distinct.
Sir John Simon said that the truth was when the public and world influence was sufficiently strong and unanimous to pronounce a firm moral condemnation that sanctions were not needed.

While Britain would be the grimest and stand by the obligations contained under every article of the Covenant, he suggested it would be best to keep the coercive and the mediator functions of the League distinct.

He denied that there had been any weakness in the League's pronouncement. Assembly resolution contained the merit, which claimed that the strongest expressions of desire to stand by every principle of the League.

Military Force Useless.
Sir John, moreover, made reference to the Pact of Paris, deliberately made by the Assembly, and said that this was the cause for the assurance of support from the United States. The resolution laid down in it was contrary to

BRITISH REVENUE RETURNS.

Strict Economics Enforced.

THE FLOATING DEBT.

Rugby, Yesterday.
With eight more working days before the financial year ends on March 31, the Revenue returns to March 19 show a deficit on the national accounts of only £19,400,000, as compared with £34,800,000 at the corresponding date last year. Revenue for the week amounted to £24,700,000 and Expenditure to £19,900,000, making a surplus for the week of £4,800,000. The Income Tax receipts have already exceeded the revised budget estimate of £272,000,000 by over five million, and the surtax receipts are only £2,000,400.

On the other hand, however, Estate Duties and Stamps together, are £21,000,000 behind last year's receipts to date, although the budget estimated to receive in the year about the same total as last year.
The Customs and Excise revenue are together about £10,000,000 over last year's receipts to date as compared with the budget estimate of £7,500,000 increase in the year. Supply expenditure is to date about £11,000,000 in excess of last year as compared with the estimated increase of £22,500,000, which indicate substantial economies.
The Floating Debt amounts to £609,000,000, being a reduction of £3,500,000 in the week.—British Wireless Service.

ANIMAL TRAINER.

Shetland Circus Man Stranded.

CHARGED WITH VAGRANCY.

Din Mohamed, a circus animal trainer, formerly employed by the Shetland Circus, which had a season here a few months ago, appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning, charged with being a vagrant.
Detective-Sergeant C. Mottram said that the Shetland Circus left here about three months ago. Prior to the ship sailing, Mohamed was sent ashore on a small errand, and on returning, he found the ship had gone. Since then he had been moving between Hong Kong, Macao and Canton, until he came to the end of his tether. He told the Police that his passport and papers were with the Circus, which was probably quite true.
The police officer asked for a commitment to the House of Detention, pending communications, if possible, with the Shetland Circus, or arrangements for the defendant's return to India.
His Worship granted the order.

the spirit of the Covenant, that dispute should be settled under stress of military pressure, therefore he was glad to see that as far as Shanghai was concerned, there were considerable withdrawals of Japanese forces.

It was then proved clearly that a fair conclusion was unreachable under the immediate pressure of military force.

The debate was then interrupted by private business.—Reuter.

Captain Eden Speaks.

London, Later.
On the resumption of the debate Captain Eden, who wound up for the Government, noted the unexpected large measure of support for the Government's policy, apart from the criticism that the Government might have developed little more vigour, but those who advocated "forward policy," he said, overlooked the fact that, had we indulged in such eagerness, we might have found ourselves acting alone.

Awaiting Commission's Report.

As regards Manchuria Captain Eden said that the Government was watching British interests there and this that this was a thirty-year-old controversy, and the more.

The Government had the opportunity to study it the more fearful they were to venture upon it hastily. "We, at present, are well advised to await Lord Lytton's Commission's conclusion."

He was glad to note that the definite improvement in British relations with China during the past 15 years was due to Sir Austin Chamberlain's policy, which was a combination of firmness in defence of well established British and other foreign interests, and sympathy for just Chinese aspirations. That policy would continue.

HOME LOTTERIES BILL.

Introduction Now Granted.

176 VOTES TO 123.

Rugby, Yesterday.
In the House of Commons by 176 votes to 123 leave was granted to Sir William Davidson, a private Conservative member, to introduce the Lotteries Bill, the object of which is to authorise the raising of money by means of lotteries for charitable, scientific, and artistic purposes, or any public improvement or other public object under the conditions to be approved by the Secretary of State.—British Wireless Service.

COLONY'S GUEST.

Magistrate Extends Hospitality.

TO SOLDIER THIEF.

An umbrella formed the subject of a theft charge brought against a Fukienese, stated to be a disbanded soldier returning to Penang, before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning. Defendant pleaded guilty.

Inspector Shannon said accused stole the umbrella from a passenger's luggage on board the s.s. Tai Shan, prior to her departure for Canton last night. Defendant was seen by the complainant, who gave chase and caught him in the street.

His Worship (to defendant): We'll give you hospitality for three weeks!

MARRIAGE BUSINESS.

Woman Doctor's Plea For Easier Divorce.

Would earlier marriages—regarded in the light of business contracts—and easier divorce make for greater domestic happiness?

Striking observations on this subject were made by Dr. Elizabeth Sloan Chesser, the authority on women's health, at a conference organized by the women's section of Alliance of Honour at the Y.W.C.A. Central Club, Bloomsbury.

"We should help our boys and girls to marry sooner," said Dr. Chesser. "Let them have homes and children when they are young. Earlier marriage and easier divorce would result in a great deal less suffering in the world."

"Marriage should be regarded in the same light as a business contract. In business you do your best to keep your contract, and in marriage it should be the same. But husbands are very difficult, and a woman does not realise what a bore she can be."

"A great mistake which so many young people make to-day is to refuse to have children at the beginning of their marriage, but it is a woman's right to refuse to have a child if she does not want one. Woman is still regarded as inferior and is still allowed to be a drudge."

"So long as we allow our boys to have this attitude towards girls we shall not go forward. It is not enough to tell children about sex. That is only the beginning. The whole emotional tone of the home is what matters."

The Duchess of Atholl said: "Young people to-day have so many more opportunities of finding out whether their interests are in common, and I think on the whole conditions of life are making for greater safety in marriage."

Evolutionists, after studying the teeth of thousands of elephants have revised their theory.

Ten Years Ago.

[From the "China Mail" of March 23, 1922.]

To-day's dollar is worth 2/5 9/16.

In view of the attitude of the "casual" golf caddies at Fanling, the Royal Hong Kong Golf Club has found it necessary to reconsider the list of rates for caddies and pending a decision it has been resolved by the General Committee that no local (Fanling) caddies shall be engaged until due notice is given to members through the Press. Caddies on monthly rates according to the Club rules, however, may continue in employment, but there shall be no addition to the list of caddies on monthly rates until further notice.

THESE ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS

MR. CHAMPKIN'S ROTARY CLUB ADDRESS.

At the Hong Kong Rotary Club luncheon yesterday Mr. Champkin delivered a highly entertaining address on Anti-Aircraft Guns.

He made splendid use of the opportunity afforded for recruiting members for the new unit of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps—the Anti-Aircraft Light Automatic Company.

"The Anti-Aircraft Light Automatic Company anticipates a real and urgent need—the need to guard against a menace that twenty-five years ago would have seemed as fantastic as it seemed forty years before then, when Tennyson forevisioned the nations' aerial navies grappling in the central blue."

It was with some difficulty that I persuaded my friend, Mr. Macpherson, to prevail upon me to accept your kind invitation today, began Mr. Champkin. You have been very patient with me here on other occasions when I have spoken on subjects of which I know nothing, but I confess I feared the danger of putting your forbearance to a breaking strain on the subject of these anti-aircraft guns.

It is only fair to Mr. Macpherson for me to say that he endorsed my apprehension with a whole-heartedness that seemed to me perhaps a little ready having regard to our long and friendly association in imposing on the suffering public of this Colony.

Anti-aircraft guns happen to be an absorbing passion of mine, but I don't expect you to be anything but mildly interested in them, any more than you would expect me to be particularly interested in golf, or the assassination of snipe, or the Nude Culturists. (Laughter). We all have our hobbies and I didn't come here to talk mine. I am here principally because I find it pleasant to be in the goodly company of so many old volunteers, and I am more glad than I might be after tasting this coffee to know that most of you don't think anti-aircraft guns are worth a damn! (Laughter). I should be much discouraged if you thought otherwise! When old volunteers develop the habit of taking a cheerful view of volunteering they ought to retire. We can always find them a congenial job in the Boy Scouts. The Colony expects, and has every right to demand a decorous and decent despatch from its Defence Corps. (Laughter)—for there has never been a time in its history when the Colony's best volunteers were not the world's worst pessimists.

It was so in our time, and it has always been so. I daresay most of you can go back twenty-five years, when the rifleman watched with dull amazement the first aeroplane that disturbed the pleasing amenities of his Easter Manoeuvres. He knew then that volunteering was finished. He knew the aeroplane had beaten him and that the end had come.

Forty years before his time the whiskered warriors whose portraits are preserved in our Officers Mess, wagged their beards with the same dismal foreboding. They laid aside their crossbows and battleaxes (Laughter)—or whatever small-arms they used in the sixties, and they took up the latest thing in Snider rifles and they also knew the end had come. They also knew that modern armament had put a sock in the old spirit and that volunteering would never be the same again.

So it has been throughout three quarters of a century of volunteering history. We have all been gloomy prophets, but, like old Ezekiel, we have seen the dry bones stirring, and we are not without hope that the spirit of the sixties that never failed us yet will still serve the hour and need long after we are gone. (Applause).

We know that if the Colony's volunteers to-day are small in numbers they have never been more keen, and that they are immeasurably more efficient than at any time before.

We know that those old warriors in picturesque poses, throwing the weight of their bodies on their chinstraps (Laughter)—were splendid fellows. (Applause). They handed down something more lasting than a peculiar fashion in swordsmanship. They started a great movement. They passed on a great tradition. They gave to those who came after them a spirit that, if it has wearied at times, has gathered strength again and gone from strength to strength when real and urgent need has called on this Colony for volunteers.

The Anti-Aircraft Light Automatic Company anticipates a real and urgent need—the need to guard against a menace that twenty-five years ago would have seemed as fantastic as it seemed forty years before then, when Tennyson forevisioned the nations' aerial navies grappling in the central blue.

We know how real that menace is to-day—not to us of course, but to others. Nothing is likely to happen to us here. Nothing ever does happen in Hong Kong! We have so many Societies for the Prevention of Things Happening that we sleep soundly in our beds. We know that the Nude Culturists can only come when the lights are out (Laughter)—and that an air raid can never come at all.

We are as fortunate in our immunities as we are blest above all peoples in our egotistic optimism. We want to be realistic, but we don't want to face realities. That's the whole volunteering problem in a nutshell. Let us take it out of a nutshell and put it in a bombshell. Let us, when we feel disposed to thank whatever gods there be that Hong Kong is different somehow, consider as clearly and as cogently as we can what would happen if Hong Kong was raided from the air. Let us consider that the weapon of the first warplane was an automatic pistol and that to-day a bomber takes off with about two tons of stuff that with great good luck would blow Ice House Street to blazes (Laughter)—and still, I hope, have enough left over to kill the criminal that made this coffee! (Laughter).

We have to defend ourselves or to rely on Providence for our defence. We pray for peace in our time, but what good claim have we on Providence for protection against the desolating heathenry of high explosives? Enemy air-men also are godly folk, with an equal claim on Providence and with the inestimable advantage of being ten thousand feet nearer heaven than Bishop Lodge. Surely a gleam of simple intelligence should indicate that it were better we should leave to Providence the holding of the scales, and in the meanwhile man the guns that our ungodly authorities tell us that we need.

If we admit the necessity for defence we must at least admit the possibility of attack. Not only have we to defend this Colony, but we have to protect a peaceful and industrious people whose co-operation in our plans we do not invite, but whose confidence in our power of protection we have every right to expect and every duty to encourage.

We can't afford to take any risks. All that we have is at stake in the Colony—or owned by the Hong Kong Bank. (Laughter). All our overdrafts are here, and some of our wives! The people who make our coffee don't matter, but the Armenians and the Land Investment Company expect us to defend our hearths and homes. (Laughter)—otherwise they will raise our rents. We must do something.

The old China Fleet and the old Regular Force—attested by the old whiskered warriors—were a safe standby in the old days, but times have changed. We have to fight new forces from the air, and I am here to tell you that we want volunteers to man the guns.

In the Anti-Aircraft Light Automatic Company we work on rather novel, though not entirely original lines. Those of you who have read Nicholas Nickleby will remember that Mr. Squeers had an educational method peculiarly his own. Quoting from the book—"We go upon the practical mode of teaching, Nickleby; the regular education system. C-I-a-n, Clean, verb active, to make bright. W-I-n, win, d-e-r, der winder, a casement. When a boy knows this Nickleby he goes and cleans the winder." (Laughter).

Well, it seemed to me better than most education systems I have studied and I understand it has proved highly successful in the Girl Guides. (Laughter). We have therefore adopted it to a modified extent in the Anti-Aircraft Company. Our theme is to allocate men as far as possible to the defence of their own particular interests. The Talkoo Dock men defend their Dock Works. The Hong Kong Electric men defend their Electric Works. The Water men defend their Waterworks. Conforming to the same idea, gentlemen, what about the Gas works? (Loud laughter). I am seriously disturbed about the gas works! Can I hope to-day to get forty-nine men to join me in the defence of my particular interest? It's for you to decide.

The need is for men now. We don't want to be reminded by letters in the newspapers that there are hundreds of men in the Colony that will roll up when the war starts, provided it doesn't start before they roll up. The habit of rolling-up, of which I am a warm and enthusiastic supporter, has much to commend it, but it would be more commendable if air raids were subject to a month's notice. It gives us a comfortable sense of security to know the rollers-up are there—wherever they are, but we should be happier to know that they were keeping their hands in.

You can't fight a gun as my friend Bowser-Smith plays the piano—by sheer force of character! (Laughter). You have to know a little about it beforehand. It's like exchange broking (Loud laughter)—it takes at least ten hours to learn thoroughly and ten hours training a year is all that we ask you to do in this Anti-Aircraft Company. There are no compulsory parades, no range practices, no Camp exercises. Instruction is literally carried to your door in six different centres in Hong Kong and Kowloon on six different days of the week. We don't even trust you with a uniform until the expense is justified by war. All that we ask you to do is to fill in the form enclosed in the brochure before you and to accept with cheerfulness the very light obligation that it calls for.

The engaging duty of convincing everybody who is not already a volunteer of the truth of our need has been entrusted to me, partly, no doubt, because I am an old volunteer and know nothing of these things, but principally, I think, because the truth is never really convincing unless told by an experienced liar! (Laughter).

Mr. Chairman, you have been good enough to give me an opportunity of telling the truth to this representative assembly of business and professional men of Hong Kong. The need exists. What more is there to say to all good citizens—to all who hold in proper honour the public spirit and patriotism of those who, in the early days of this Colony laid the foundations of its greatness and counted as the first of their obligation and the proudest of their privileges a place in the front of its defences? (Applause).

Probably at some time or other, Mr. Chairman, you have tried to arouse public interest in some sinister scheme of your own. You look as if you have. (Laughter)—and I know that you appreciate my difficulties in raising this Company. I know that you will understand how grateful I am to the Rotary Club for the help you are giving me to-day. (Applause).

"TOUCH" TYPEWRITING.

[To the Editor of "China Mail"]
Sir,—May I be enlightened, through the medium of your valuable paper, on the above subject?

Of late the business market has been flooded with so-called "Touch" typists from a local Typewriting School, who have been taught to master the standard typewriter keyboard with their "Blind" system, using (A) (S) (D) (F) and (H) (J) (K) (L) as the "Home" keys for the left-hand and right-hand fingers respectively. Will any of your readers interested in the subject kindly point out to me the advantages of the above method which obviously deviates from the well-known "Touch" system adopted throughout the English-speaking world.

It occurs to me also that the local Education Authorities should make investigations in this connection, as besides acting as a great hamper to high efficiency from the operator's point of view, incorrect tuition of the subject certainly does an injustice to advocates of "Touch" typewriting in a British Colony.

Yours, etc.,

PEAK TRAGEDY RECALLED.

Four Men Before the Magistrate.

CAPITAL CHARGE.

Clues which the Crown claims to be conclusive proof of the movements of four men charged with the murder of a student, Tsang Tai-kai, were unfolded before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Police Court yesterday afternoon. The fourth defendant, who has already been committed on a charge of murder in connection with the Tai Wan Fort tragedy, was also charged with delivering letters threatening death.

In his outline of the case, Mr. T. M. Hazlerigg, M.C. (Crown Solicitor), gave a detailed account of the disappearance of the youth, followed by the subsequent discovery of his dead body off Victoria Gap Road, on the Peak. The Crown elaborated on "a veritable mine of incriminating matter" said to have been found in the possession of the defendants.

It was alleged the gang had no intentions of holding the youth to ransom but they had intended to murder him whether the money was paid or not, and had, in fact, done so, before presenting their demand for $10,000 for the boy's release.

After evidence had been taken the hearing was adjourned.

INDIAN GUARD CHARGED.

Alleged Serious Offence on Woman.

Before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistrate's yesterday, Anayat Hussain Shah, an Indian guard attached to the Wanchai Gap Police Station, was charged with committing a criminal assault on a Chinese married woman named Ng Tung at Wongneichong Gap on the morning of March 3.

Mr. Hin-shing Lo appeared for the defence and entered a plea of not guilty. Mr. R. E. Lindell, Assistant Attorney-General, conducted the case for the prosecution.

The complainant was walking up the gap in company with an older woman when they were accosted by the accused, who was on duty there. They ran away, and the accused was alleged to have chased them for half a mile. Then he pushed the older woman over the bank and dragged the complainant up the hill to an isolated magazine. Afterwards the complainant returned to her home in Wanchai in great distress and did not report the matter to the Police until the following morning.

An identification parade was subsequently held at which the accused was with six other guards, all in uniform, and both the complainant and her companion had no difficulty in picking him out. The case was adjourned after Dr. G. H. Thomas had given medical evidence.

RACING WITH THE TALL SHIPS

ROUND THE HORN.

How the Wheat Ships Thresh Along.

Sixteen thousand miles of flying spray, swelling seas, and belly-aching sails. Round the Horn from Australia to England with holds full of wheat.

Twenty square-rigged ships are preparing for their annual cargo race.

The prospect has thrilled the imaginations of American youth. Romance is not dead in their hearts, it seems. American boys still long to run away to sea. And their sisters are not far behind either.

A. J. Villiers, sailor-author, published in the New York Herald Tribune Magazine an account of some of his adventures in these annual wheat races—tales of battles with the waves, of the hazards of undermanning, of a woman stow-away, who was supposed to bring bad luck, but didn't.

His vivid description of the dangers and hardships of the long voyage did nothing to lessen the love of adventure of young Americans. On the contrary, ever since his article appeared he has been swamped with letters from would-be sailors (and sailor-ettes) who want to sail in this year's race.

Every day, according to an account in the news columns of The Herald Tribune, "he gets letters from boys telling him 'they would be willing to do any goldarned thing if only they could get a place on one of the ships.' School-teachers, he said, had written by the dozens, all wanting to know if they could not work their way by helping the cook."

"A lot of the boys," Mr. Villiers continued, "say they would be willing to pay their way to London or to Australia, or to any other place in the world, if they could get a berth on one of these sailing-vessels. They call me on long-distance from Chicago and San Francisco, and already two boys have written me that they are on their way."

Across Atlantic to Join.
One of these, the son of C. W. Lea, of Tacoma, Washington, has given up his work at Yale, and has gone to London to join the crew of the Finnish ship Hougomont. Mr. Lea has come to New York to talk with Mr. Villiers about his son's escapade and his flair for adventure. Another lad, Charles V. B. Reilly, of Milwaukee, has sent Mr. Villiers word that if the United States will not enter a ship, it will at least be represented by an American. He is on his way to Sydney from Vancouver. "I should be in Sydney on January 2," he wrote. "I would greatly appreciate it if you could tell me whom I ought to get in touch with when I get there."

Most of the letters have come from New York State, New England, and the State of Washington. "It seems," Mr. Villiers said, "that about a quarter of the boys in Brooklyn want to join the race." Running through a batch of PLAY OUT OF THE COMMON.

Dr. Johnson on the Stage.

A G. K. CHESTERTON COMEDY.

The Arts Theatre deserves real credit for having produced G. K.
Chesterton's "The Judgment of Doctor Johnson." Here is a play quite out of the common run, and full of all sorts of fine qualities with which the purely commercial theatres seldom supply us, yet lacking many of those other fine qualities which the purely commercial theatres deem essential, writes W. A. D. in the Daily Telegraph.

Its story is slight, and, even so, not well told. It is as though Mr. Chesterton, recognising that his story was only intended as a peg on which to hang a portrait of Doctor Johnson, and a great deal of brilliant conversation, had decided to waste as little time on it as possible.
It tells us of an idealistic American acting as a spy in London, and of his faithful little wife who, following her husband's aberrations, goes from Puritanism to profligacy
—and back again. But Mr.
Chesterton is content merely to tell us of these changes in her. He gives us no chance of seeing for ourselves either that she is a Puritan in Act I. or that she is a profligate in Act III. In fact, he writes as a novelist, not as a dramatist.

Good Writing.

The important thing is, however,
that he writes uncommonly well.
However modestly and wittily he may have disclaimed credit for the laughter of the audience, dividing the praise between the actors and Boswell, the fact remains that there were many impressive passages and much fine argument in which, though the mouth was the mouth of Johnson, the words were manifestly the words of Chesterton.

Still, his tribute to the actors was,
in large measure, deserved. Francis L. Sullivan, as Johnson, added one more excellent performance to his score; and Leon Quartermaine, as Jack Wilkes, was admirable when once he had conquered an initial attack of nerves. Miriam Adams made, I think, all that could be made of Mary Swift; for the reason explained above, it is a poor acting part. Wilfrid Walter was not comfortable with John Swift's idealistic vapourings, but did his best.

Scattered Items: Lloyd Hughes,
now in "The Miracle Man," celebrates his fifteenth year in pictures this month ... Edmund Lowe, about to co-star with Claudette Colbert in "Sensation," grows a vegetable called a "topepo," a cross between a tomato and a pepper, on his ranch in the Santa Cruz mountains ...
Forty years ago, Judge Charles Cooper, father of Gary Cooper, was the Helena, Mont., correspondent for the New York Clipper ... George Bancroft is growing a set of red whiskers for early sequences in his next film, "On the Black Sea."

TALKIE VOICES ARE BETTER.

Those Early Nasal Gymnastics.

[By Arthur Lloyd James,
University Reader in Phonetics,
London.]

Has the voice of the talkie improved? Yes, a thousand times yes, despite the croakers who deny that it has. There are always Jeremiahs, and they are conspicuous for one mental characteristic only. They have short memories.

My first talkie, only a few years ago, was an experience. I went to study the affair scientifically, because, like Trochu, I had a plan. If not a plan, a theory, based on years of investigation and broadcasting.

The theory was, and is, that there is in every language a certain incisiveness of sound that you must hear in order to understand what is being said. Telephones, gramophones, and other machines must provide this minimum, otherwise they are useless, and I set about to determine, if possible, of what this minimum consists.

It is a mixture of context,
sounds, rhythm, and intonation;
when the speaker is visible, the eye enters in, and picks up odd bits of information, like gesture, or shape of the mouth.

And there is a critical speed for speech, beyond which speech becomes nonsense; this speed is higher when the speaker is visible than when he is invisible—a fact that broadcasting comedians would do well to remember, which they seldom do.

So I went to test my theory, but nothing happened. I hardly understood one single word that was spoken. What emerged from the loud speaker was miles below the intelligibility line.

Shrieking female voices, pitched well beyond the limits of the recording apparatus, did nasal gymnastics that had no acoustic similarity to any known brand of English speech.

And in parentheses, let it here be said, and on grounds that can be supported by the historical development of certain languages, that over-prevalent nasalisation is a powerful contributor to unintelligibility on the talking film.

Now things are better: apparatus,
both recording and reproducing, has improved, and voices are evidently more carefully vetted before they are allowed to perform.

What comes over now, whether British or American, is well above the intelligibility line, though to British ears, of course, the American voice still has elements of unfamiliarity, just as the British voice must have to American ears.

But we are becoming more tolerant. Personally, I cannot but regret that we hear so much more of uneducated American speech than we do of the educated variety, because people in this country whose only knowledge of American society is what they derive from sensational talkies do really believe that all Americans talk the same, like crooks and gangsters. Which is, of course, absurd.

But let us not suppose that we are without guile. There is plenty of bad English—bad at both ends of the social scale—to be heard on this side of the Atlantic. Nobody can throw stones.

England and America have the future of the English language to settle between them, for richer or poorer, for better or for worse.

The talking film is a powerful educator, linguistic and sociological; linguistically it is improving, but it has not yet earned full marks.

THE GALLANT ADVENTURE.

Gladys Cooper's New Part.

"KING, QUEEN, KNAVE."

Ruritania is not what it was. In the old days the gallant adventurer placed his beloved princess on her throne, kissed the hem of her garment, and vanished into the night.
But in the new Ruritania, as H. M.
Harwood and R. Gore Browne exhibited it to us in "King, Queen, Knave" at the Playhouse, the story goes quite differently.

The adventurer is still made of the same fine old altruistic stuff, but his princess no longer has any particular belief in her duty to her people. She does have a shot at the throne, but it is more to oblige her adventurer than for any more lofty reason.

And when the adventure fails and the adventurer is captured she gladly abdicates as the price of his freedom, kisses him heartily, and prates with the easy optimism of the inexperienced of her plans for darning his socks.

This is a good, sound, straightforward piece of story-telling, with no nonsense about it and no very special distinction about it either.
It makes an excellent evening's entertainment, and beyond that calls for very little comment.

Leon Quartermaine is the adventurer, as gallant as the best of them. Gladys Cooper brings her own brilliant decisiveness of manner to the part of the princess, whom the authors have been content to draw as a type of young woman usually encountered on the courts of the English suburban tennis clubs rather than in those of Southern Europe.

Edmond Breon, as the king,
is a more credible Royalty;
but he, too, has a surprising fund of colloquial English, considering. Doris Lytton contributes a clearcut piece of work, and Frank Harvey, Jack Bligh, Gilbert Davis, and Frank Cochrane are all good. There is also a creditable piece of doubling by that master of makeup, Antony Holles—W. A. D. in The Daily Telegraph.

"ON THE BLACK SEA."

George Bancroft To Star In New Drama.

George Bancroft will return to the dramatic background of sea adventure for his next Paramount starring production. It was revealed recently when Paramount announced the purchase of the European play, "On the Black Sea."

As a vivacious coquette who attempts to conquer the spirit of a domineering sea-man, Miriam Hopkins will appear opposite the star in this adventurous action story aboard a tramp liner in seldom-travelled waters.

Direction of "On the Black Sea" will be in the hands of John Cromwell, director of Bancroft's two recent film successes, "Scandal Sheet"

SIX KILLED.

Family Wiped Out By Young Farmer.

Paris, February 11.
Attracted by the neighing of a horse, neighbours entered a farmhouse near Agen and found dead the six members of the Dieulafe family, representing four generations. Five of the victims had been killed in their beds, a hatchet, a knife, and rifle all being used to mutilate the bodies. Everything in the house was in an orderly state, and nothing had been stolen.

Tearless and unmoved, Pierre Dieulafe, a young farmer, after being questioned by the police throughout the night, confessed that he massacred his wife, grandmother, uncle, mother, daughter, and baby in turn. Afterwards he assisted the police to reconstruct the crime, still showing no signs of remorse.
He said: "I lost all control of myself. I hated my family."

Synthetic rubber is now being manufactured.

The sex of an unborn child can now be ascertained three months before birth by the X-ray.

and "Rich Man's Folly."

Completion of star-director-writer combination comes with the assignment of Oliver H. P. Garrett to prepare the screen play from the Philipp Zeska-Erest Spitz drama.
Garrett has been scenarist on a number of Bancroft vehicles.

GOETHE CENTENARY CELEBRATED.

Sir John Simon's Appreciation.

"OLYMPIAN FIGURE."

Rugby, Yesterday.
The Minister for Education, Sir Donald Maclean, presided at the Government luncheon, held in the House of Commons to-day in connection with the Goethe Centenary celebrations.
Among the guests were, Herr Trevisan, the German Minister of Communications and Transport. At further celebrations which were held to-night, the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, also paid tribute to the "Memory of an Olympian figure who not only belongs to Germany, but who stands for all time as a great citizen of the world."
Sir John described Goethe as the precursor of the spirit of international tolerance, so much needed to-day, and declared that there was no country other than his own country, where Goethe's name was held in higher reverence than in Britain.—British Wireless Service.

MINOR ENGAGEMENTS.

Harbin, To-day.
As the Japanese cannot arrange transport for their troops by railway on the Eastern section of the Chinese Eastern Railway, they are mobilising all motor-buses.
It is reported that the situation on the Eastern line is critical. Several minor engagements have taken place in the vicinity of Imienpo and Hengtaohotge.—Reuter.

ANSWER TO-MORROW.

London, Yesterday.
In the House of Commons Mr. Thomas announced that he had received from the Irish Free State Commissioner a most important and serious document dealing with the Irish situation and he hoped to announce the contents of the document and the Government's answer to-morrow.

London, Later.
In a statement to-day in which he advised Mr. J. H. Thomas as to the policy of his Government regarding the Oath of Allegiance, the High Commissioner of the Irish Free State in London says that the British Government must realise that real peace in Ireland is impossible as long as full and free representation of the people in their Parliament is rendered impossible by a test of this character, in which his Government held that the Oath was not mandatory in the Treaty.

They had not the absolute right to modify the Constitution as the people desired, and anything affecting the Constitution belonged to internal sovereignty and was purely a domestic matter. The people regarded the Oath as an intolerable burden and a relic of medievalism. It is a test imposed from outside and subject to a threat of immediate and terrible war.

London, Later.
There is little doubt that an emergency debate will be secured to-morrow on the subject of the Free State communication. The Cabinet is considering the situation in the morning, after which Mr. Thomas will make a statement in the House of Commons. The Conservatives are demanding that any loss of land anticipated that the Reich Government will come to the rescue as it has millions invested in junkers.—Reuter.

SHAUKIWAN ROAD MOTOR SPILL.

Sudden Swerve That Driver Fails to Explain.

FOUR PERSONS INJURED.

A motor accident occurred on the Shaukiwian Road at 8.45 a.m. yesterday. A motor lorry, loaded with fish and seven passengers, overturned in the middle of the road. As a result of the spill four persons—Tsang Tai (26), Ho Teze-wing (32), Cho Sun (35), and Lo Ming (20)—were injured and taken to the Government Civil Hospital.

In his report to the Police, the driver, Woo Shan, stated he was driving to town from Shaukiwian. When between the East and West gates of the Talkoo Dockyard, the lorry swerved suddenly to the right, and he was unable to explain the reason. This caused the lorry to topple over on its side. The lorry was owned by the Hang Kee Motor Transportation Company.

The four persons taken to hospital are believed to be not seriously hurt. One of them, Lo Ming was allowed to proceed home, after receiving treatment.

OPIUM SMUGGLER CAUGHT.

Emigrant Fined
$600.

Searchers on the waterfront yesterday, arrested a Chinese, stated to be an emigrant to the Ocean Islands. They searched his basket and discovered two clogs, one of which, on examination, was found to contain cement, and the other about 8 tael of illicit opium.

The man was brought before Mr. Schofield in the Central Police Court this morning, when he pleaded guilty and was fined $600 or four months, in default, R. O. Ward prosecuted.

AN APPLICATION DISMISSED.

Chan Kwok-see who was sentenced to four months' hard labour on March 12 last, on a charge of the embezzlement of $1,431.18 from the Wong Young Import and Export firm during August and January, made another appearance before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning.

His Worship explained to the defendant that on March 18, Mr. Horace Lo made an application for a revision of the sentence, on the ground that certain alleged facts had not been divulged. The application was granted, but this morning, his Worship received a letter from the solicitor, stating that he had received no further instructions to act on defendant's behalf.

Defendant (from the dock)—I don't know anything about that. His Worship—All right, application dismissed, sentence confirmed.
